WAIVER OF COUNSEL

I am representing myself in the above captioned case and am acting as my own attorney in this matter. Although I may have obtained forms from the court's website or from court personnel, I understand that I have not been given legal advice. I also understand that in representing myself I am required to follow the applicable Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, Ohio Rules of Evidence, statutory laws and Local Rules of Court. Furthermore, I have not relied on assistance from the court or its personnel in determining what to file or what to present as evidence in my case. I understand that if I am concerned about my rights or responsibilities in this matter, I must seek legal advice from an attorney, not from the court. I understand that any Attorney representing another party does not represent my legal interests.

Helping Children Cope With Family Separation

Adams County, Ohio

REGISTRATION PACKET - 2019

A Cooperative Process: The Adams County Domestic Relations Court, The Adams County Juvenile Court, and Lifespan Solutions, Cincinnati, Ohio

Your Decision and its Impact on Your Children

The decision to permanently separate, divorce, or to make new/significant changes in your children's' custody or family living arrangements usually follows much thought and careful consideration. This program is designed to help you and your children work through difficult transitions related to your divorce or other changes in your family structure and circumstances. Like any other life-changing event, such developments can result in emotional growth or can be a negative experience leaving lasting scars. While you may not have chosen this experience for yourself and your children, you do have a choice in the way you handle it. Family separation can be very difficult and painful, but you and your children can move forward in healthy and positive ways.

An Important Message from the Courts

"All children are impacted by their parents' divorce or family separation. While some adjust more quickly than others, many suffer the emotional fallout and carry the hurt into their own adult years and relationships. The Helping Children Cope with Family Separation program is intended to enable you, the parents, to play an active role in lessening the negative effects and/or trauma imposed upon your children as a consequence of your separation. Therefore, attendance is mandatory, and a necessary step in scheduling your domestic hearings; and in determining your ongoing status in relation to your children."

Brett Spencer, Judge, Adams County Common Pleas Court
David M. Hunter, Magistrate, Adams County Juvenile Court

Why This Is Important

As many as fifty percent of all marriages are presently ending in divorce. Many of these couples have one or more children who must cope with the breakup of their home.

Approximately one-third of divorced parents remain bitter and conflicted several years following their divorce. Unfortunately, much of this bitterness and emotional pain is often played out in the life and experiences of the children. Other families experience a significant change in visitation, custody, or family structure that impacts the daily lives of their children. The goal of Helping Children Cope with Family Separation is to help parents understand that the best gift they can give their children — and themselves — is learning how to co-parent their children in a positive, healthy manner.
